HIGHLIGHTS:

Homigot Sunrise Square

Sangsaeng's Hand, a two-part bronze sculpture shaped like a pair of hands, was constructed in December 1999. It is a signature symbol of the sunrise festival. The left hand is on the land and the right hand is in the ocean. It was built to give the message that all people are living together by helping one another like Sangsaeng-meaning coexistence in Korean. The base of the platform is an image of the sun and its two round rings refer to harmony. A popular site to visit on the first sunrise of the year, the two hands remind visitors of the spirit of reconciliation and coexistence.
